FULBRIGHT

NEW FULBRIGHT SCHOLAR PROGRAMS OFFERED

Three new pilot programs have been added to the traditional Fulbright Scholar Program, beginning in 2001.

- The New Century Scholars Program will bring together an international group of 30 to 35 top academics and professionals under the Fulbright banner to examine a major transnational theme and work collaboratively on an issue of global significance. The topic for 2001–2002 will be “Challenges of Health in a Borderless World.” The program will culminate with a plenary conference, and proceedings will be published and shared with appropriate national and international organizations. For information, contact Micaela S. Iovine (miovine@cies.iie.org).
- The Fulbright Senior Specialists Program will provide short-term opportunities (two to six weeks) for leading U.S. faculty and professionals in some 14 disciplines. Countries will request Senior Specialists through their local Fulbright Commission or U.S. diplomatic post. The Council for International Exchange of Scholars (CIES) will develop rosters of scholars who are willing to serve. Approximately 25 grants will be available the first year. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis. For information, contact Kristen Johnson (kjohnson@cies.iie.org).
- The Alumni Initiatives Awards Program, designed to help former Fulbrighters develop sustainable linkages between their U.S. and host institutions overseas, awarded its first round of 25 grants in August 2000. The awards supported projects that built on the Fulbright scholars’ experience abroad to develop mutually beneficial institutional partnerships and varied in value from $1650 to $20,000. For program requirements, eligibility and application deadline, contact Micaela S. Iovine (miovine@cies.iie.org).

Detailed information on all three programs is available on the CIES Web site at www.cies.org.

Introduction

Each year over 800 U.S. faculty and professionals are awarded Fulbright grants to lecture or conduct research abroad. Grants range in duration from the full academic year to a semester or less.

About 80 percent of the awards are for university lecturing, usually in a field of importance to the host institution. Many lecturing awards allow opportunities for research, and research scholars may undertake occasional lecturing. Benefits for awards vary from country to country but generally include round-trip travel, basic health insurance and maintenance allowances.

Most awards require the doctorate or other terminal degree or appropriate professional experience. While English is acceptable for many assignments, fluency in a language is sometimes required. All applicants for Fulbright opportunities abroad must be U.S. citizens.

The Directory

To acquaint academic and professional communities at home and abroad with U.S. Fulbright scholars and their fields of specialization, the Council for International Exchange of Scholars (CIES), which cooperates with the United States Department of State in administering the Fulbright Scholar Program, annually publishes this directory of U.S. Fulbright scholars.

The directory provides a comprehensive listing of grantees by academic discipline, which includes their home institutions, affiliations abroad, lecturing or research project titles and dates of stay in the host country. Scholars are also listed in separate indexes arranged alphabetically, by home state and by host geographic area. U.S. scholars participating in short-term seminars—the Fulbright German Studies Seminar, U.S.-Germany International Education Administrators Program, U.S.-Japan International Education

Administrators Program and U.S.-Korea International Education Administrators Program—and the Alumni Initiatives Awards Program are also listed.

Grants for some 2000–2001 scholars will not be confirmed until after this directory is published. The names of these scholars will appear in the next edition—just as scholars who received grants but were not listed in the 1999–2000 edition appear in this directory beginning on page 123. For a complete listing of 2000–2001 U.S. scholars, visit us online at www.cies.org.

Apply for a Fulbright Award

U.S. scholars and other professionals interested in university lecturing and advanced research abroad are encouraged to visit CIES online at www.cies.org for eligibility requirements, award descriptions and application materials.

U.S. Scholar Stories

The value and impact of the Fulbright Scholar Program are perhaps best reflected in the experience Fulbrighters have while they are abroad. As the following scholar stories indicate, Fulbrighters—and their home institutions—benefit significantly from the lecturing and research carried out while on their grants. Many scholars also report that their Fulbright adventure helped them achieve a new awareness and understanding of the world and of their own country.

To read more scholar stories, visit “The Fulbright Experience” section on our Web site at www.cies.org.

AFRICA

After implementing a successful peer education program for the prevention of HIV/AIDS in Botswana in the early 1990s, Dr. Kathleen Norr took her knowledge and experience to Malawi. Norr collaborated with African colleagues and nursing students at Kamuzu

College of Nursing to adapt and restructure the peer education program to serve a Malawian population. Adapting the program required Norr and her colleagues to identify the level of HIV/AIDS awareness in the country, the issues linked to partner relations and gender inequality and the cultural and religious attitudes toward the disease and its prevention. The information was gathered through focus groups and consultations with governmental and nongovernmental organizations conducting HIV/AIDS prevention activities. Using a peer-led community participation approach, Norr and her colleagues trained future school teachers to teach and discuss with students the sensitive issues surrounding AIDS education.

EAST ASIA AND THE PACIFIC

As China rapidly emerges as the second largest economy in the world, Lois Bitner Olson, an associate professor at the United States International University, believes it is increasingly important for the United States to understand Chinese consumer behavior and approaches to marketing and management. While teaching international business and international marketing management at Shanghai Jiao Tong University, Olson also began research for her book on Chinese consumer behavior. She is particularly interested in the “little emperor’s” market impact. Because the rapid growth of China’s economy has meant prosperity for many families with only one child—the little emperor or empress—spending on a family’s single child has reached record proportions. The single child has tremendous influence on how a family’s money is spent and thus on the national economy.

EUROPE

Commander Ross Swope of the Metropolitan Police Department in Washington, D.C., traveled to the United Kingdom in 1999 to find out what the neighborhoods of Washington, D.C., have in common with the neighborhoods of London, Glasgow or Dublin.

Swope spent almost four months at Cambridge University, sharing his expertise and conducting research on the fear of crime in the United Kingdom. Swope not only lectured at Cambridge, but also met with, and gave workshops for, nearly a dozen police agencies, discussing his experiences in Washington and listening to those of his British counterparts.

MIDDLE EAST AND NORTH AFRICA

By helping the Palestinians of the West Bank develop their own television network, Jeanmarie Condon, a senior producer at ABC News, was able to use her 15 years of experience in broadcast journalism to give Palestinians a means of describing the impact of the peace process from their own perspective. In addition to teaching her students at Bizreit University basic journalistic skills, she also got them involved with the making of her documentary, “A Year in the West Bank: Documenting the Peace.” Condon collaborated with her students to illustrate how the 1993 Oslo Peace Agreement shaped the expectations and hopes of the Palestinians in autonomous areas. They hoped that the documentary would show, as accurately as possible, how the peace process has unfolded and how official peace agreements have impacted people’s everyday lives over the past seven years. Because the students were directly involved in the reporting and interviewing process of the project, they gained hands-on experience in documentary filmmaking.

THE NEW INDEPENDENT STATES

TyAnna Herrington’s Global Classroom Project was built upon a continued commitment to educational exchange between the Georgia Institute of Technology (GIT) and the Russian Academy of Sciences/European University in St. Petersburg, Russia. Herrington, an assistant professor at GIT, worked with Yuri Tretyakov, director of the language center at the European University in St. Petersburg, to design a project that would enable them to teach Russian and American students about technical communication and to create an Internet-based classroom that would provide faculty and students with the opportunity to participate in digital classes and collaborate on research projects. Herrington expects that the Internet forum her Fulbright project provides will serve to connect U.S. and Russian specialists with common interests and goals by giving them the technical and communication capabilities necessary to collaborate in education or research.

SOUTH ASIA

Robert Louisell, an associate professor in the department of teacher development at St. Cloud State University in Minnesota, spent a semester in Islamabad, Pakistan, lending his expertise in teacher training and education reform to the Pakistani Ministry of Education. Pakistan is struggling with basic issues such as literacy as well as more complicated ones such as education reform. Louisell delivered seminars about curriculum and educational standards and met with teacher trainers to provide two- and three-day training workshops.

WESTERN HEMISPHERE

Elaine Schlefer, head of the preservation department at the New York Academy of Medicine Library, received a Fulbright lecturing award in June 2000 to teach at the Antorchas Foundation in Argentina. The scholar was one of three 1999–2000 grantees to support the foundation's work in the preventive conservation of Argentina's cultural and historical patrimony. Schlefer taught a nine-week course in basic book and paper conservation techniques to a class of 16 Argentine professional librarians and archive specialists at the foundation's facility in Buenos Aires.

Mayer, Alex Simon

Associate Professor, Department of Geological Engineering and Sciences, Michigan Technological University, Houghton, MI 49931-1295

Lecturing and Research: Reliable Models for Predicting the Environmental Risk and Clean-up of Dense Nonaqueous Liquid (DNAPL) Groundwater Contaminants
Delft University of Technology, Amsterdam, Netherlands
June 2000–July 2000

Mott, Henry Valentine

Associate Professor, Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering, South Dakota School of Mines and Technology, Rapid City, SD 57701-3995

Lecturing and Research: Environmental Process Technology and Recycling
University of Erlangen, Erlangen, Germany
March 2000–April 2000

Myose, Roy Yoshio

Associate Professor, Department of Aerospace Engineering, Wichita State University, Wichita, KS 67260-0044

Research: Measurement of Turbine Blade Entropy Generation Rate in an Unsteady Flow Field
University of Limerick, Limerick, Ireland
June 2000–July 2000

Pahlavan, Kaveh

Director and Professor, Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering, Center for Wireless Information Network Studies, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, MA 01609-2247

Lecturing and Research: Advanced Wireless Networks
University of Oulu, Oulu, Finland
January 2001–May 2001

Parnas, Richard Steven

Group Leader, Polymer Composites, Polymer Division, National Institute of Standards and Technology, Gaithersburg, MD 20899-8543

Research: The Role of Variability in the Processing and Performance of Structural Composites
Catholic University, Leuven, Belgium/Luxembourg
September 2000–June 2001

Radelat, Guido

Private Engineering Consultant, Kensington, MD 20895-2718

Lecturing and Research: Alleviating Urban Traffic Congestion
Autonomous University of the State of Mexico, Toluca, Mexico
September 2000–December 2000

Rogowska, Jadwiga

Assistant Professor and Research Associate, Harvard Medical School, Brain Imaging Center, McLean Hospital, Belmont, MA 02478

Research: Development of 3D Correlation and Delay Mapping Techniques for Studying Cognitive Deficits in Schizophrenia Using Functional Magnetic Resonance Imaging
Warsaw University of Technology, Warsaw, Poland
September 2000–March 2001

Roth, Mary Joel Spry

Associate Professor, Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering, Lafayette College, Easton, PA 18042-1798

Research: Evaluation of the Use of Multi-Electrode Earth Resistivity Testing for Geotechnical Site Investigation in Norway
Norwegian Geotechnical Institute, Oslo, Norway
March 2001–July 2001

ENGINEERING

Ruggles, Roger W.

Associate Professor and Department Head, Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering, Lafayette College, Easton, PA 18042-1775

Lecturing and Research: Water Resources, Hydrology, Soils, Geographical Information Systems and Surveying; Assessing Environmental Impact Resulting from Development in African Countries Using Geographical Information Systems

Makerere University, Department of Agricultural Engineering, Kampala, Uganda
October 2000–August 2001

Santare, Michael H.

Associate Professor, Department of Mechanical Engineering, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19716-3140

Lecturing: Fracture Mechanics and Fatigue Design

University of Porto, Porto, Portugal

February 2001–May 2001

(Fulbright-FLAD Chair at the University of Porto Mechanical Engineering (Winter Session))

Streit, Donald Arthur

Professor, Department of Mechanical and Nuclear Engineering, Pennsylvania State University–University Park, University Park, PA 16802

Lecturing and Research: In-Vehicle Alternative Energy Systems for Developing Countries

Addis Ababa University, Department of Mechanical Engineering, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia

January 2001–June 2001

Suuberg, Eric Michael

Professor, Division of Engineering, Brown University, Providence, RI 02912

Lecturing: Thermodynamics

Tallinn Technical University, Tallinn, Estonia

February 2001–July 2001

Teixeira, Arthur A.

Professor, Department of Agricultural and Biological Engineering, University of Florida, Gainesville, FL 32611-0570

Lecturing: Thermal Process Simulation, Optimization and Control in Food Process Engineering

La Molina National University of Agriculture, Lima, Peru
July 2000–September 2000

Valavanis, Kimon P.

Professor, Center for Advanced Computer Studies, University of Louisiana at Lafayette, Lafayette, LA 70504

Lecturing and Research: Mobile and Autonomous Agent-Based Distributed Intelligence Systems

University of Zagreb, Zagreb, Croatia

September 2000–January 2001

Wekezer, Jerzy W.

Professor and Chair, Department of Civil Engineering, College of Engineering, Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University, Tallahassee, FL 32307

Research: Crashworthiness of Roadside Barriers

Warsaw University of Technology, Warsaw, Poland

June 2000–December 2000

Zurk, Lisa M.

Technical Staff, Advanced Array Technology Group, MIT Lincoln Laboratory, Lexington, MA 02420

Lecturing and Research: Electromagnetic and Acoustic Wave Propagation and Scattering in Stochastic Media

University of Helsinki, Helsinki, Finland

September 2000–July 2001

ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES

Adams, Donald Dick

Professor, Center for Earth and Environmental Sciences, SUNY–College at Plattsburgh, Plattsburgh, NY 12901

Research: Greenhouse Gas Studies as Related to Carbon and Nitrogen Cycling in Lakes and Wetlands of Sub-Saharan Africa

University of Nairobi, Nairobi, Kenya; and International Decade for the East African Lakes, Lake Tanganyika, Tanzania

January 2001–October 2001

(African Regional Research Program)

Blyukher, Boris

Associate Professor, Department of Health and Safety, Indiana State University, Terre Haute, IN 47809-1401

Lecturing: Occupational and Environmental Safety Management Policy

Nova Gorica Polytechnic University, Nova Gorica, Slovenia
September 2000–January 2001

Bolstad, Paul V.

Associate Professor, Department of Forest Resources, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, MN 55108

Lecturing and Research: Geographic Information Systems Technology and its Application to Lion Spatial Ecology

University of Natal–Durban, School of Life and Environmental Sciences, Durban, South Africa

January 2001–December 2001

Bousquet, Woodward Scott

Professor, Division of Natural Sciences and Mathematics, Shenandoah University, Winchester, VA 22601-5195

ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES

Lecturing and Research: Environmental Science, Policy and Assessment; Citizen Involvement in Local Land Stewardship in the United States and Canada
Acadia University, Wolfville, Canada
August 2000–January 2001

Carroll, Francis Patrick

Independent Scholar
Research: Technical Support for the Establishment of the Center for Environmental Science and Technology in Cairo University
Cairo University, Cairo, Egypt
December 2000–June 2001

De la Cruz, Armando Acosta

Professor, Department of Biological Sciences, Mississippi State University, Mississippi State, MS 39762
Lecturing and Research: Ecology and Sustainable Development of Coastal Estuarine Environment
Andalas University, Padang, Indonesia
September 2000–July 2001

Fernald, Alexander G.

Postdoctoral Associate, National Research Council, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Corvallis, OR 97333

ADMINISTRATION AND FUNDING OF THE FULBRIGHT SCHOLAR PROGRAM

The flagship international educational exchange program sponsored by the U.S. Government, widely known as the Fulbright Program, is designed to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries. With this goal as a starting point, the Fulbright Program has provided more than 234,000 participants chosen for their leadership potential—with the opportunity to observe each others' political, economic and cultural institutions, exchange ideas and embark on joint ventures of importance to the general welfare of the world's inhabitants.

The Fulbright Program was established in 1946 under legislation introduced by former Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas. The Fulbright Program is administered by the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the United States Department of State.

Since the establishment of the of the Program, 34,000 visiting scholars have conducted research or taught in U.S. universities, and more than 32,000 U.S. scholars have engaged in similar activities abroad. The Fulbright Program awards approximately 800 grants to visiting scholars each year. Currently, the Program operates in 140 countries worldwide.

The primary source of funding for the Fulbright Program is an annual appropriation made by the United States Congress to the Department of State. Participating governments and host institutions in foreign countries and in the United States also contribute financially through cost-sharing and indirect support, such as salary supplements, tuition waivers and university housing. The Congressional appropriation for the Fulbright Program in fiscal year 2000 was $105.7 million. Foreign governments, through their binational commissions or foundations, contributed an additional $28 million directly to the Fulbright Program.

The J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board (FSB), composed of 12 educational and public leaders appointed by the President of the United States, formulates policy for the administration of the program, establishes criteria for the selection of candidates and approves candidates nominated for awards.

The United States Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs develops policies to assure fulfillment of the purposes of the Program and administers it with the assistance of binational education commissions and foundations in some 51 countries that have executive agreements with the United States for continuing exchange programs, United States embassies in 89 other countries and a number of cooperating agencies in the United States.

Binational commissions and foundations draw up the annual program plan for exchanges, in consultation with participating universities and organizations in the host country. They also screen, interview and recommend to the FSB qualified candidates for student and faculty grants under their exchange programs. In a country without a commission or foundation, the Public Affairs Section of the U.S. Embassy develops the program and supervises it locally.

The Council for International Exchange of Scholars (CIES) under a cooperative agreement with the Department of State, administers the Fulbright Scholar Program for faculty and professionals. CIES is a division of the Institute of International Education (IIE) and has close working relationships with the major disciplinary bodies in the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences. During the terms of their grants in the United States, Fulbright lecturers and researchers are assisted by CIES.
